THE UNRECORDED GRAVE.

Who resteth here?

Manhood—that gloried in its pride and might?
Beauty—with cheek of rose and eyes of light?
Age—with its furrows and its look of care?
Youth—with its smile and sunny hair?
Genius—with fiery glance and haughty brow?
Compelled before the mightier one to bow?

Who resteth here?

Is manhood stricken in its hour of pride?
Hath manhood fallen in the battle tide—
When banners streamed along the golden sky?
When rushed the war-horse in his majesty?
When arm and arm—when life was waged with life—
Which foe sought foe, and quailed not at the strife?

Who resteth here?

Beauty, with pleasant glance and lip of bloom,
With voice of music—breath of sweet perfume?
Some gentle heart that beamed from eyes of truth,
And shed its radiance round the happy hearth?
Some youthful form that may no longer stand?
To greet with smiles of love her fellow band?

Who resteth here?

Genius, with saddened face and laurel crown,
Withered before the cold world's laughing frown?
Some child of song, whose name shall yet be stirred?
Where music's tones and beauty's lay are heard?
Resteth he here? Oh! let him sleep on!
Happier, than though a world's applause were won!

Who resteth here?

Whose race is run? Whose pilgrimage is o'er?
Whose voice is gone that may be heard no more?
I know not—yet methinks some mark should be
To tell the world whose resting place ye see;
That, passing by, we may rejoice or fear,
Smile in bright hope, or shed the sorrowing tear!

LIFE ASSURANCE.

BY JOHN SEAL.

[CONCLUDED.]

The poor wife met the bearer of her husband at the door, without a cry or a tear—
The children gathered about him; but even their wailings did not disturb him, for many a long and weary day there was no hope, none whatever; but one evening, late in the summer, as he lay there with his lighted eyes fixed upon the open window—gasping for breath, and evidently struggling with some great change at work within him, he turned suddenly toward his wife and knew her, and pressed her hand between both his, and then, while her heart was brimming with terror and joy, fearing that every breath would be his last, and thankful that reason had been vouchsafed to him to know his dear children, and their mother once more—he lifted his thin hand towards the Western sky, and whispered—
"Oh! that we might all go together!"

And there was nothing to be heard in reply, but the humble breathings of a broken hearted wife, repeating the same prayer; and the sobbings of little children, waiting to take leave of their dying father.

"If I could only be certain, my dear wife," he added after a short pause, "could I only be satisfied that you and the children were provided for, and that you were beyond the reach of want, I should die happy!"

"Happy! Oh Charles!"

"As happy, I mean as you could be, after we had been separated by death; at any rate, your loss would not have been trebled to you as it must be now; but I declare I don't know what I was going to say; ah, it was this: had I done my duty, love, when it was very easy to do it, I should not only die happy now, but as I am a living man, I do believe it would have lengthened my own life, and restore me to health perhaps. Ah! why do you withdraw your hand? Why leave me at a moment like this? Merciful Heaven, what's the matter with her? Run children, run!"

The poor wife, who had been sitting by the side of her dying husband, with his hand fastened to her bosom, smothering his dark hair, and sobbing over his thin transparent hands, started up and sprang through the hall's open door; and after a few moments, they heard a drawer open and shut violently in the next room; the sharp rustling of papers, hurried footsteps and cries, and before they knew which way to turn, she came back, trembling and weeping to the bedside of the poor sufferer, and pressing her damp lips to his forehead, she whispered to him to be of good cheer, to be comforted; and when he started up and gazed into her eyes with speechless terror, she told him that God had heard his prayer, and that his "little ones" and their mother, were all provided for.

"Provided for? how? where? what has happened?" cried the husband, trying to lift himself up, and gazing at her, with a bewildered look, and gasping for breath. "Oh! speak to me! Let me be sure that I have understood you, and though I am ready and willing to die, still, as God is my judge, I believe it would bring me back to life again!"

"The poor wife answered not a word, but she fell upon her knees with a cry of thankfulness, and her three children knelt with her, while from her up-lifted hand fluttered a paper which her husband was just able to make out the meaning of. It was a policy for five thousand dollars, taken out twelve years before in the name of the wife, and was now worth, after deducting the sums lent to her by the office to pay the yearly premiums with, and keep her sick husband after his failure, over eight thousand dollars. These were, the savings of a grifty, and prudent housekeeper, in the season of prosperity, when two dollars a week put aside for the purpose, became the seed of a richer harvest than her husband had hoped for in the days of commercial change and overthrow. For a while she had forgotten the policy, believing it could be of no use to her or to the children, till after the death of her husband; but when she discovered that owing to a beneficial provision of the charter, which entitled her to borrow back two-thirds of the whole amount she had paid in, together with two-thirds of all the profits she was entitled to, she bestirred herself and prevented the forfeiture; and now, when there was no other help, no other hope under heaven, and the partner of her youth was dying of anxiety about his wife and his little ones, to whom they were provided for, and the husband's life saved, the broken hearted healed, and the active man of business restored to usefulness; and all by the forecast of a young and fashionable, and up to a certain title, a frivolous and thoughtless woman."

P. S. Go thou and do likewise.

WAR EXPENSES.—The French war department, principally for Algiers, cost this year, $90,000,000. Costly conquest, so far as money is concerned, to say nothing of human life! It is somewhat amusing that the French keep 80,000 soldiers there to protect 50,000 settlers.

Dow, Jr., talks to young ladies on the subject of matrimony, in the following manner:—

"My young maidens—I know you all want to get married as soon as you enter upon your teens; but it is better to remain single and live upon the cold souped solitude, than be married to misery, or wedded to woe. I have but a poverty-stricken opinion of the major portion of my sex. They are so corrupted by the miscellany refinements of the age—so inflated with pride—so fooled by fashion—so afraid of the soil they tread upon—so given to cultivating whiskers and mustaches, while their morals are in a wretched state for the want of wedding—and so overgrown with hair, vanity, and laziness, that scarcely one out of twenty is any more fit to be trusted with a wife, than a hog is with a garland of flowers."

We have not seen the sun in more than a week, at the time of writing this, and we are so dull and stupid that it is utterly impossible to write anything interesting or entertaining for our readers; and if we do not have pleasant weather soon, our paper will become so blue, that it will have a bad effect upon our readers. Just now, all is calm and quiet,—a stillness pervades everything, as is the case after great excitement and turmoil. The last Mexican news has all been greedily devoured, and as quickly digested,—and still the public cry for news. We shall probably have something further from the seat of war, during the week; but whether it will be accounts of another bloody battle, and the triumph of the stripes and stars,—or the quiet surrender of Matamoros by the Mexicans, to the gallant and veteran Taylor, we are unable to predict. They are a peculiar people, and their mode of warfare is singular indeed. At times, when a strong opposition might reasonably be anticipated from them, the roads are clear, and our army march on, unmolested,—and then again, when there is no cause to suspect their appearance, they spring from every bush and shrub, on the road side, and open a tremendous fire on our army. But thus far, our heroic band has been always prepared for them, and they have had as warm a reception, as any army could desire; and there can be no doubt of our success, at all times, for the talent, prudence, and sound judgment of Gen. Taylor, is amply sufficient, to guarantee all this, sustained and assisted as he is, by a brave and devoted army.—This much about war.

Very soon we shall have excitement enough in Newport, to interest all, without seeking for war news. The air is warm, and in a very short time, thousands of strangers will flock here, to commence the summer campaign; and if we can judge anything from appearances, and the preparations which have been made, Newport will be the fashionable watering place, this summer. A very large number of families have engaged houses, and rooms at the Hotels already; and not a day passes, but more or less people are here, to make the necessary preliminary arrangements, for the removal of their families to this delightful spot, in the course of this month. By the last of June, all will be life and commotion in our streets, and the Hill will wear the appearance of a busy city. Let them come, we say, for the accommodations are more ample this year than they have ever been, and the season will be the most busy one that has ever been known in old Newport.

In two weeks, we shall have the Annual Meeting of the Friends, with all its commotion and excitement; and then, the U. S. Circuit Court, with its army of Lawyers and Clients; and then, the Legislature, with its wise men and lawmakers; and then, the Masonic Anniversary of St. John the Baptist, with all its parade and beautiful display,—and—that dinner at the Ocean House; and then, the Fourth of July, with its patriots, and display of beautiful ladies, gallant soldiers, &c.; and then the Old Fellows' Celebration, with all its pomp and splendor; and then, many more things of an exciting nature, too numerous to mention. So here is enough to interest all classes and grades, for some time to come.

The plan of campaign, as developed by Arista's papers, was for that General, after demolishing the small force under command of Gen. Taylor, to overrun Texas; and, having effected "the conquest of that revolted province," if it should be necessary to secure the fruits of victory, it was arranged that Gen. Bustamente should bring in reinforcements to the number of 5,000 and upward, and that subsequently Paredes himself should march an army of occupation into the conquered country.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.—The Legislature of New Hampshire will convene, at Concord to-morrow.

CAPT. THORNTON.—This officer was put under arrest immediately after his exchange, by order of Gen. Taylor. The cause of this proceeding is not stated, but is said to be on complaint preferred by his officers.

During the last forty-eight hours (says the Buffalo Pilot) there have arrived at this port over one hundred and thirty steamboats, propellers, brigs and schooners. The harbor is filled its entire length; in many instances, the vessels are so compact as to form convenient foot-bridges across the creek.

HONORS TO THE DEAD.—A card appears in the Hagerstown papers, calling upon the citizens of Washington county, the birthplace of the lamented Major Ringgold, to meet at the Court House, in Hagerstown, on Saturday next, to adopt measures for paying appropriate honors to the memory of the gallant dead.

It will be recollected that we stated yesterday morning that the sun would shine out, by half past two o'clock in the afternoon according to the beat of our calculation. The sun shone precisely at the hour we predicted,—therefore, in future, our readers will, of course, apply to us, when they wish to know anything in regard to the state of the weather. We shall probably make an Almanac, next year.

YELLOW FEVER IN MEXICO.—Dr. Charles Davis, who states that he practised medicine in Matamoros in 1832, has written a letter to the Union, in which he says:

"Since that time I have had constant correspondence with the residents of that place, and know that the yellow fever has prevailed but twice, and then owing to extraordinary circumstances. Both times the river has overflowed its banks in the month of August, inundating the prairies, and this was succeeded by an extraordinary cessation of the rainy season and a burning sun."

"Forty or fifty miles from Matamoros, at Reynoso, on the Del Norte, lives Dr. Bass, of Kentucky, a gentleman of talents and education in his profession, who has been obliged to embark in mercantile pursuits to maintain himself. The town and vicinity containing upwards of three thousand inhabitants, and not furnishing him with professional occupation."

THE AMERICAN "MURAT."—The Tropic gives the following description of Capt. May, who has fairly earned the above title:

"With a beard extending to his breast, and hair to his hip-bone, which, as he cuts through the wind on his charger, streams out in all directions, he presents a most imposing appearance. His gait, on foot is awkward, and that of his horse, (an immense one) is the rack of a Canadian pony."

The Murat of Napoleon made himself conspicuous by elegance of dress. Capt. May trusts to nature alone, and is quite successful.

ARRIVAL OF THE HIBERNIA.

10 Days' Later from England.

The Hibernia, Capt. Ryrie, suddenly, and unexpectedly made her appearance through the fog, at quarter before 12, yesterday forenoon, at tier dock, in Boston, having made the run from Liverpool, (including her detention at Halifax, and by fog) in twelve and a half days. Her intelligence is ten days later.

The news by the Hibernia, is hot of any great importance.

The Caledonia arrived at Liverpool, May 14th, after a passage of 12 1-2 days.

The impudent proposition of the Mexican Government, created a stormy time among the bond holders. Paredes' agent demanded a new loan of two millions, and proposed to consolidate the old debt, at a discount of 60 per cent.

Wilmer & Smith's European Times mentions a report, that the British Government are about to despatch a war steamer to Oregon, with 200 gunners, 2 sergeants, 2 corporals, and 2 bombardiers, under the command of Capt. Blackwood, early in June. Three thousand excavators are soon to follow. This force and these men are professedly sent to the Hudson Bay Company's territory, but it would be useless to shut our eyes to the fact that the bare announcement of such an expedition, while the territory in question forms the subject of negotiation between the two Governments, is calculated to produce no small excitement in America.

The same Journal also mentions that reports are in circulation of the intended resignation of Sir Robert Peel.

The Corn Bill is regarded as safe—and people are looking forward to the results of the Sugar duties debate.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer, intimated on this evening, that the new arrangement for sailing a steamer to America weekly, would be carried into effect as soon as possible.

FRANCE.—The receipts of the "Oregon Notice" in France, created little or no sensation, the French press seeming to consider its passages, as amended by the Senate, "tres conciliantes."

The position of affairs with Mexico however, excited considerable interest.

THE OREGON QUESTION.—The London Times of Thursday says: "The packet which will sail from Liverpool in a few days, will convey to the United States the real impression produced here by the late intelligence. If the resolution was intended as a threat or a hostile measure, it has totally failed to have any effect whatever, except that it is probable Mr. Packenham will be at once empowered to bring the controversy to a prompt and final issue. The London Economist states, on what it considers high and unquestionable authority, that the Oregon question is on the point of a satisfactory settlement."

We are indebted to Mr. C. C. Burdick for Boston papers, containing the foreign news.

WHALING IN PROVINCETOWN HARBOR!—On Monday of week before last, a large right whale made his appearance in Provincetown Harbor, and was shortly after killed and towed ashore by six men in one boat. It was thought that 50 or 60 barrels of oil would be obtained from the blubber, and that the bone would sell for $100. A small whale was also captured there the previous week.—Barnstable Patriot.

A New York paper says that tall ladies invariably prefer short men. An exchange thinks this an error, and observes that no woman objects to Hy-men.

As yet, we are without a New York mail this morning. When the boat arrives, if we get any news of importance, we shall immediately issue a second edition.

We are again indebted to our ever attentive friend, Mr. J. N. Diers, Baggage Master of the steamer Massachusetts, for a copy of the London Globe, and also several last evenings' Boston papers.

MARRIED.

On Sunday evening last, by the Rev. Mr. Hatfield, Mr. Robert P. Clark and Miss Susan S. Allen, both of this town.

Sunday evening, by the Rev. Mr. Hatfield, Mr. Edward Simmons and Miss Elizabeth Newell Weedon, both of this town.

WM. A. JUDSON.

Radway's Chinese Medicated Soap.
may truly be said to be one of the most valuable,
as well as the most scientific and useful invention for the healthy, comfort and convenience of the human family, that mankind has ever been blessed with. As an alleviator and preventer of pain, or irritation occasioned by the bites or stings of Mus-quitoes, or other poisonous insects, this invaluable Soap is indeed a treasure. By applying it to the parts affected, it immediately abstracts the poison, allays the irritation, and protects the sufferer from all further annoyance from these troublesome insects.

TO THE LADIES.
We would particularly recommend this inestimable Soap to their notice. It is equally adapted to all toilet purposes, and is far superior, as a purifier of the skin, to all Powders, under whatever name they may be called, as it is for medicinal applications; for while it softens and beautifies the complexion, it removes every vestige of Tan, Pimples, Blotches, Pustules, and all other blemishes of the skin, and, in fact, all cutaneous eruptions. No lady's toilet is complete without this valuable Soap;
and no other article of the Toilet is required, when you have this in your possession. None are so beautiful, but what this Soap will improve. For sale in Newport by R. J. TAYLOR.

A still greater revolution in the sale of Ready Made Clothing. New Store and new Goods, at the old stand, where the public have been favored with so many good bargains. 91 Thames street, one door north of Messrs. W. B. & J. J. Swan's. THE PROPRIETOR of this Establishment has the pleasure of informing the people of Newport and its vicinity, that he has leased the new and commodious store, 91 Thames street, for the purpose of carrying on the Ready Made Clothing Business, where the public may be assured that they will always find on hand the largest assortment of Clothing and Furnishing Goods in the place, as well as the lowest prices. If I can but induce the people to call upon me, I will give them the most positive proof of the truth of this assertion, as I am determined to secure for the United States Clothing Store a tremendous run of custom, and, aware as I am, that competition is so severe, that the only mode of success is to offer my Goods at a small advance on Cost. HOUSE TO LET.

"Strange that a bay of thousand strings Should keep in time so long."

THE subscriber has several chambers to let in his house which is beautifully located directly opposite Trinity Church Burying Ground; he will rent the rooms with furniture, or without, as may best suit the tenant. There is, probably, no more desirable spot in Newport, for those whose souls are not entirely steeped in sin, and wrapped up in the fumes of this world's delusion; the occupant may sit at the window, and view the last home of man in all its mysterious and solemn grandeur, and seriously reflect upon the great uncertainty of all things human. Here latent come with himself, and meditate, in full view of the grave yard, on the final consummation of all things, and anticipate that universal crash, when the earth shall be burned up, and the heavens be rolled together as a scroll. We must reflect upon these things there, and be prepared with our passport when we meet the last Tyler, or we shall receive the total mark of the black brush.
